

Satellite radio is the only signal I can receive in certain areas that I travel in Northern California. If I did not have satellite I would be without radio signals.